Aerospace Logistics

SEKO supplies Global aircraft manufacturing logistics support, as well as both civilian and military aircraft operations and fulfillment logistics services. Regardless of the size of the engine or the same day transportation requirements you may have, we can help you manage your vendors and meet tight deadlines anywhere in the world.

We operate around the clock call centers to support the 24/7 demands of the aerospace industry. We are always open and available, for your urgent requirements or for regular Global procurement.

Global Aircraft Manufacturing Support

SEKO supports the entire aircraft manufacturing supply chain, from sourcing and procurement to parts replenishment. Our network of facilities works around the clock to ensure timely product deliveries around the world.

Supplier Management

The supply chain for aircraft manufacturing continues to become more complex, and as the number of vendors increase with each passing year, it is more crucial now than ever to have systems in place to manage your suppliers. Our technology gives you the visibility to measure the performance of your suppliers against your purchase orders, delivery schedules and production deadlines.

Aviation

SEKO provides Global aviation logistics support for critical and regular movements of parts, spares, equipment and more. Our experienced staff understand the complexities and demands of your industry, and we are available at all hours of the day to help keep your aircraft operations running.

- AOG Services - there is no more critical time for logistics than when an aircraft is grounded and needing a replacement part that could be in another part of the world. SEKO maintains 24/7 operations all year long to support AOG requests, even during holidays.
- MRO Services - for regular maintenance, repair and overhaul operations support, we help aviation suppliers and airlines with order fulfillment, transportation and inventory management services.
- Hospitality - SEKO provides global product replenishment support for airlines around the world, from consumables to equipment, we can facilitate the delivery wherever your aircraft are located.

Government and Defense

SEKO helps aerospace defense contractors and aid and relief organizations with Global logistics support. We have trained staff in many locations around the world to help facilitate full compliance in the transportation of your highly sensitive products.

Air Charters

When an aircraft engine or oversized parts need to be shipped, we can help provide you with a multitude of air charter options anywhere in the world.

“I just received word that Cimber was so impressed with how SEKO handled this engine, I’ve been asked to move out the second one. I’m making the arrangements right now and will revert back with details shortly. Just wanted you to know... great job.”
